FROM "OVER THERE"

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE,
Sept. 9, 1918.

L. J. BROSEHARS,
Safford, Arizona.

DEAR MR. BROSEHARS—Well, here we are in the land of Joan of Arc. We had a very nice trip from the States. Spent a few days in England and then crossed to France. We had a fast ship and no trouble in crossing. Did not see a submarine, although, while in a port in England, we saw the hospital corps bringing ashore six wounded men that were on a ship torpedoed the day after we landed.

We had one storm, which lasted one day and night. The sea was very rough and the wind high, but our boat was so large that we experienced no trouble.

The first thing you notice in this country is the peculiar method of handling railroad traffic. The cars are small, divided into apartments holding eight. No arrangements for sleeping except to sit up in stiff back seats.

The freight cars are small, just a little longer than an ordinary motor truck. They make very good time.

The roadbeds are good. No grade crossings. They either go under all roads and streets or over them. In time of peace, the speed averages 50 miles per hour.

The wagon roads are splendid even now, with heavy army trucks passing over them and no one to repair them.

I am in the territory that shows the results of the German occupation. Everything is in ruins. You can have no idea of the damage unless you could see it. I left ahead of the regiment and have not heard a word from them. They are located at some point in the rear in training.

I hope that Teller and all the Safford men are well.

We have the Boche on the run now and it is hoped that we can keep it up and end the war.

I have not seen Paris or any of the large cities, so have nothing of interest to write.

Remember me to the families of all the boys and tell them to write the boys often. They will appreciate a letter more than anything else.

Yours,
CAPT. E. H. ROACH.

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE,
September 15, 1918.

MX DEAR DAD:—Just a few lines to let you know I am getting along fine and dandy.

I have plenty to eat and a place to sleep, so that is about all a soldier can expect in this great war.

We arrived here a few days ago. I would have written you sooner, but have not had the opportunity, as I have been a very busy man most of my time since arriving here.

This warping system is a wonderful thing, indeed; but, however, it will work out victorious for the cause of justice and right before many more moons. I believe the American soldier is doing all he was sent over here to do and doing it bravely.

Well, I have not had a letter yet to my new address, so you see the soldiers' mail is very slow over here. I hope you are getting my letters promptly, as I wrote you some time ago.

We are camped in a nice little French village and we all like it fine. However, we like the U. S. much better. That is, if circumstances would permit it, but the way things are now, we are glad that we are here on this side where we can accomplish more in bringing this war to a speedy end.

The French people certainly treat the American soldier white. They would give us anything they have, if we would only ask for it. But, of course, they are rationed by the government and do not have any too much for themselves to eat; therefore, have nothing to sell or give.

Everything is much higher here than in the States. But we get things through the Army about the same as we did over there.

No tobacco can be bought here for any price through the French stores, but we get all we want through the quartermaster of U. S. Army.

This is some old style country. The people are 200 years behind the times in everything. The buildings are all old, no new improvements at all, and the country still holds its title as being a wet place, as it has been raining here for a week without any let up. It has partly cleared up today and is as cold as blue blazes. So, I will ring off for this time. Write often, as I am always glad to get a letter from you. I will write every chance I get. In case you don't hear from me often, you may know I am in a place where I will not have an opportunity, as the case may be a little later. Give my kindest regards to all my friends.

I remain, as ever, your true son.

A. B. CRAWFORD,
Sergeant, Company B, 158th Infantry, A. E. F., A. P. O., 788, France.

The following letter was received from Sergeant B. W. Freudenthal, written on September 1st, from "Somewhere in France":

This is the first real opportunity I have had of writing you since I got off the boat. We have been on the go pretty much all the time and will admit that I have seen some of the prettiest country that I ever saw.

We are now billeted "Somewhere in France" and are having our first real rest. To be "billeted" means that you are put in the barns and empty buildings of the inhabitants of your immediate vicinity. The quarters are very comfortable, that is, after having ridden on the French railroad trains. When we have to go anywhere by rail, we are put in freight cars. These freight cars are about half the size of the United States freight cars and are supposed to hold from 32 to 40 men, so you can easily see why we prefer to walk.

There is a premium on tobacco here in France. The inhabitants have none at all and all that we have is what we brought with us from the States. If you see any of the people that have boys in Company B, you can tell them that we are all O. K. at this writing.

There is a good deal of descriptive matter that I would like to put in this letter, "dependu." We had an uneventful trip across the ocean and have had no casualties so far.

The children here are always running in and out of our billets and we have quite a time with them. Those in the country are much better fed than those in the city. When we passed thru a certain city, the children fought for the scraps we gave them.

SERGT. B. W. FREUDENTHAL.

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE,
October 4, 1918.

MR. J. F. WEBER,
Safford, Arizona.

DEAR FRIEND:—Just a few lines to let you know I have not forgotten you and how glad I am to get THE GUARDIAN. I am anxious to receive the one after the Primary Election to see who were nominated.

I am well and never felt better in my life. It is getting pretty cold these nights. It frosted last night.

I am in one of the best little companies. I don't believe there is a better one in the A. E. F. We were given a citation by the Commander-in-Chief for the good work we did under shell fire. We were at one place where the Huns retreated and it was the greatest sight I ever saw. Hundreds of machine guns and tons and tons of ammunition. Worth half of a man's life to see it, but I don't think it will last much longer, at least, I hope it won't, for I am sure getting dry for a drink of good old Gila water.

I have received letters from several of the boys that are over here. All say that they are well, but all are hoping it will be over by the first of the year. There are three more Arizona boys in this company. Among them is Homer Wanslee, I guess you know him; he is a brother to Colton.

Will close hoping everything is O. K. with you. I am as ever, Your friend,

A FAMILY MEDICINE

In Her Mother's Home, Says This Georgia Lady, Regarding Black-Draught. Relief From Head-ache, Malaria, Chills, Etc.

Ringgold, Ga.—Mrs. Chas. Gaston, of this place, writes: "I am a user of Theodor's Black-Draught; in fact, it was one of our family medicines. Also in my mother's home, when I was a child. When any of us children complained of headache, usually caused by constipation, she gave us a dose of Black-Draught, which would rectify the trouble. Often in the Spring, we would have malaria and chills, or troubles of this kind, we would take Black-Draught pretty regular until the liver moved well, and we would soon be up and around again. We would not be without it, for it certainly has saved us lots of doctor bills. Just a dose of Black-Draught when not so well saves a lot of days in bed."

Theodor's Black-Draught has been in use for many years in the treatment of stomach, liver and bowel troubles, and the popularity which it now enjoys is proof of its merit.

If your liver is not doing its duty, you will suffer from such disagreeable symptoms as headache, biliousness, constipation, indigestion, etc., and unless something is done, serious trouble may result.

Theodor's Black-Draught has been found a valuable remedy for these troubles. It is purely vegetable, and acts in a prompt and natural way, regulating the liver to its proper functions and cleansing the bowels of impurities. Try it. Insist on Theodor's the original and genuine. $1.75
